READINESS

Always Ready, Always There... the 138th Fighter Wing has been and will always remain ready to fight the enemy and assist our community. Over the next decade, we will increasingly focus readiness efforts on forging America's best Airmen - The Tulsa Standard!

LETHALITY

The 138th Fighter Wing will remain America's first and most lethal choice for agile combat air power. The Wing will persist as a strategically predictable and globally responsive force for combatant commanders, always ready to secure the homeland, fight America's wars and sustain American influence abroad. When tasked, Tulsa-based Airmen will execute all missions with the best possible leadership, training and equipment available so that they may return home safely with Strength and Honor.
